CMS Padova muon chamber repository for production and test data

Paolo Checchia, Marina Passaseo INFN Padova

CMS week - 5 Mar 2002

Data Organization

- Data are organized in directories
- Root directory contains chambers and the objects currently under construction or test.
- Each directory contains data for the object itself and data directories for the objects it is composed of
- Directories naming: for layer, sl and chambers: object name + building order number.For other objects: name+barcode
- Layer, superlayer and chamber: directories contain a file with the barcode
- Data coming from measurements and tests are recorded in ASCII files
- Analysis data is in ASCII files and pictures files

Data access & data writing

- Data repository is on a web server
- Any browser can be used to look at the data
- The browser itself contains the software to view pictures files.
- Wget command can be used to retrieve files from other computers
- Data (text or binary files) are sent via email.
- From UNIX on the command line or with any mailer.
- From WINDOWS using the SendToDb program or with any mailer.
- Mail are interpreted by an automatic process on the web server and saved in the data repository
- Data backup is performed every night.
